The line graph shows us the cinema attendance in the UK in between 1990 and 2010. First of all, people aged 14-24 who went to the cinema was %15 in 1990. This percentage gradually reached %21 in 2010. Also, the percentage of people aged 24-34 who attendance of cinema was %25 in 1990. It rose to %33 in 2005. Moreover, the people aged 34-44 who went to the cinema percentage was %35 and it reached %43. However, the people aged 44-54 who attended of cinema percentage was %38 and it gradually rose to %40 in 1995 and went down to %38 again in 2000 and it reached %51 in 2010.